INTER COLLEGE ESSAY COMPETITION ORGANIZED BY INDIA TOURISM TO COMMEMORATE WORLD TOURISM DAY

Promoting Universal Accessibility for Old & Disabled People

'The World is a book, and those who do not travel read only a page.'

Traveling - the only thing which you buy that makes you richer.

Earlier, men used to travel in search of basic necessities for the sake of survival but in today's world, traveling isn't restricted to survival but it has reached to a position where tourism has become a very important source for economy, thus becoming a prominent industry in today's world. An ever-dynamic industry which has been promoting global union, allowing people to explore different countries and providing them the opportunity to get to know about the diverse cultures of various countries.

Today, Zumba is becoming a popular household name in India whereas Yoga has caused revolution in the fitness sector of many Western countries. People in Latin Countries believe in the theory of 'Yin and Yang' whereas Asian countries are enthralled by soccer. Kebabs and shawarmas are popular among the Europeans while pasta has become a favourite go-to meal of Indians. This has all become possible because of the zeal of mankind to explore and learn about different countries, thus tourism has become one of the vital factor of global union. Tourism not only caters to promoting cultural heritage but it is also the second biggest industry in terms of the people it employs, contributing to world economy at a very large scale.

In the 19th century, the world witnessed industrial revolution which led to major advancement in world economy. Industrialization was the driving force behind the development of tourism. Discovering new lands and utilizing its resources to develop a nation's economy was the fundamental idea but as years passed, people started getting curious about varied countries and economy was not the ulterior motive of this curiosity. The different landscapes and the rich cultural heritage of different countries became the source of curiosity for people which caused the tourism industry to bloom and become a global phenomenon.

The establishment of United Nations World Tourism Organization [UNWTO] in 1957 has been responsible for the promotion of responsible, sustainable and universally accessible tourism. It is the leading international organization in the field of tourism, which promotes tourism as a driver of economic growth, inclusive development and environmental sustainability and offers leadership and support to the sector in advancing knowledge and tourism policies worldwide.

Essay Continued.....

Since 1980, the United Nations World Tourism Organization has celebrated 'World Tourism Day' on September 27. On this day in 1970, the statuses of the UNWTO were adopted. This particular day is considered as a milestone in global tourism. On the eve of World Tourism Day, the UNWTO configures various themes promoting significant causes each year. As based on the objective of the UNWTO, nowadays tourism is accessible to people of almost every country. But the question arises - is it truly accessible to everyone? Can old or disabled people travel to any desired country securely without any trouble? The answer is no.

This year, we will be celebrating the 36th World Tourism Day but still the basic objective of easy accessibility of tourism for each and every person has not achieved yet. But as it is said - 'There is no time like the present.' We still can mend these potholes to achieve our aim of universally accessible tourism. There are a few developed countries which provides all facilities to the old and disabled people but it is not the same as for the other countries.

India is one of those countries and as an Indian, we should undertake this responsibility of easy accessibility for old and disabled people.

Even before UNWTO was established, our Indian culture teaches us the motto - "Atithi Devo Bhava" meaning 'the guest is equivalent to God' and whoever might be our guest, it is our sole responsibility to provide them every facility they require. There are very few facilities provided to the old and disabled as these people are not considered as significant as others but we are forgetting a very crucial thing and that is, they are the real detectors of how much a nation is developed. The type of facilities provided to them and how much a nation looks after them tells us about how developed the nation is.

It is this fundamental aspect which has to be taken care of, if we want to achieve the aim of universally accessible tourism. The facilities could be provided any time in the future but what about the attitude of people towards the old and disabled. As our great leader Mahatma Gandhi has rightly said - 'Be the change that you wish to see in the world.' It is our attitude towards the old and disabled which has to change which will in turn cause the change which we want to see in the tourism industry. Our perception about them has to change which will lead us to offer our assistance to them, thus empowering them and enabling us all to be at the same level and bringing equality between everyone. Many facilities and services have been constituted by the government, for example, the senior citizens have various benefits and translation of new works into Braille are to be provided for the blind, whereas video relay services are to be provided for the hearing-impaired and there are many more services which can only be seen on the list of services and not in reality.

These services can be seen rarely being implemented and that is the major reason why we are lagging behind in our aim to achieve universal accessibility for the old and disabled people. Before starting to discover new services for them, we need to focus on implementing the services which has already been proposed. It is the implementation of these services for the old and disabled people which will lead us to step on another rung of the ladder to universally accessible tourism. It will not only help tourism to flourish but it will also lead various other sectors to advance, thus enabling the development of the nation. The day when the senior citizens could travel to any part of the world without the assistance of their children and the visually-impaired would be able to read the billboards at the airport while the hearing-impaired would be able to perceive what is being announced in the airplane and the mobility-impaired could easily move wherever they wish, that would be the day where we could proclaim that we have achieved universal accessibility in every aspect. The day where we could proclaim that we have successfully accomplished the basic objective of the UNWTO to comply universally accessible tourism.

The accomplishment of which would lead the tourism industry to reach the top notch of World economy whereby anyone and everyone would be able to travel to any desired location without any concern. Travel and tourism - an industry which would never cease to exist in the long-run, thereby spreading happiness and zeal among mankind forever which reminds me of a few lines from a poem written by Hans Christian Andersen;

*To move, to breathe,
To fly and to float,
To gain all while you give,
To roam the roads of lands remote,
To travel is to live...*

Your Kite

A Poem by Bhushan Joshi, TY BSc HS

I'm on an incredible high.
Everything's a blur and a line.
My soul just can't reside
Inside this skin-cage of mine.
Every rhythm is harmonizing beats
From feet to hands and lips.
The world is singing in unison and
Connecting through this transcendental feeling.
I no longer fear death for now I realize
There are legacies born and won through eyes
That see and hands that work and
Minds that are set free.

So I grab a shape and I twist it here,
I link it there and I thrust it high...
And it glides...
And soon more than a million shapes
Take to the sky...
So sublime, like birds of paradise...
My eyes can't fathom this beautiful sight
Of all these dreams being realized.
See, if we could only live as though we were truly free,
Not caught up in some destiny, some vanity, or tragedy,
Then can you behold what awesome potentials
we could manifold?

Our smiles would become authentic
And secret messages of a life authentic
To our essence and our presence
Would no longer be meant
To take up space and take up time.
We would truly create it, invest in it, nurture it,
and spread it

Like golden grass on fields of eternity:
Robust, alive and free.
Simple, strong, and beautiful.

This is my dream for all that be.
This is my dream for all that will be.
So send your kite up,
Be it big or small, New or old,
Plain or colourful.
Let the string guide your fingers
And your heart sail your direction—
Don't linger.
Be not fear itself, But stronger.

And once the circle comes around,
Swooping down, And taking ground,
It all becomes simple momentum.
A force to be reckoned
A tool to strengthen
It will turn around, And around, And around
Pulling us all into its web of conviction.

For we have reason, to believe,
In something, larger, than ourselves...
For we have reason, to believe,
In something, larger, than ourselves...

When our last petal withers and falls
We won't regret and fear the time at all.
For we recognize this is the circling draw—
You either live happy, Or you die sad.
You either pick up your kite
Or you put it back.
So make your decisions
By how you live now.
