At the outset the guest inaugurated the program by paying floral tribute to the photograph of Mahatma Gandhi and Lal Bahadur Shastri.and also inaugurated a wall paper . Principal, Dr. Pooja Narwadkar felicitated the guest.

Actually an interview of resource person was conducted. Mr. Tushar Dhemre ,a student of Pre Law III , carried this interview .The students put various question to the resource person who answered them satisfactorily. Thus this was conversation session. While guiding students , Mr. Jagdish Kabare said , "India is a secular state. The Constitution of our country gives its citizens the freedom to practice any religion of their choice. They also have the liberty to change their religion, if they wish. The state does not have any official religion. Every religion is treated and respected equally in India and this goes a long way in maintaining the communal harmony in the country. However, even as the Constitution of India enforces laws to maintain communal harmony and the government of the country takes strong measures to ensure the same. There have been several instances in the past that have disrupted the peace in the name of religion that caused mass destruction in the country and created major panic among the citizens. It is essential for every individual to understand the importance of communal harmony and contribute towards maintaining the same so that such instances are not repeated in future."

Principal Dr. Pooja Narwadkar presented her views on the topic in her presidential address.Prof. Sanjay Aher co-ordinator of the program also guided the students on the topic. The students actively participated in the program and asked their doubts. The program was concluded with vote of thanks by Mr. Prashant Jarandikar . Nearly 100 students along with faculty members actively attended the program.

Event 27 : Teachers Day Celebration: 2022

This year the college celebrated the teacher's day on 5th September, 2022 in Innovative way. This year on the demand of the students the responsibility of teaching learning on teachers Day was delegated to students. The students from each class took the responsibility of teaching. Moreover, the last year student Ms. Radha Sagare became Principal and Ms. Soniya Nakil and Ms. Vaishnavi Phadke were selected as Vice Principal. The whole duty of teaching was handled by the students. Everyone looked excited.

Experiential learning is a pedagogy that actively engages the student in the phenomena that they are studying, such as in cooperative education, internships, clinical experience, service learning, outdoor leadership, organizational development, and activity-based learning. When students develop their own research agenda, engage in critical thinking and test their interpersonal skills, they come face to face with an alternative worldview, learning through both action and reflection, including the consequences of the larger social and ethical implications of this knowledge. This type of learning engages students in a deliberate process of hands-on problem solving and critical thinking. It often evolves with a minimum of the usual institutional structure dictated to the student in advance of the learning experience. Students in an experiential learning context are not memorizing and feeding back information: they are generating their own ideas and working through possible solutions to complex problems. This integration of concrete action and reflective thought makes possible the evaluation of learning through intentional, measurable learning goals and objectives. With all these intentions the Teachers Day celebration Was Planned.

On that day, It was wonderful atmosphere to see, the girl students dressed in sarees and boys dressed in formals like their teachers were entering in classes. The Principal and Vice Principals were moving from one class to another observing the classes and discipline. It was really a great experience to see this. The students relieved the teacher for a day. After teaching hours the students organized a program for teachers. The program was inaugurated by Lamp lighting at the auspicious hands of Prof. Sanjay Aher, Ms Radha Sagare, Ms. Soniya Nakil and Ms. Vaishnavi Phadke. One Day Principal, Ms Radha Sagare and Vice Principal, Ms. Soniya Nakil and Ms. Vaishnavi Phadke, paid floral tribute to the portrait of Dr. Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan.

Then students felicitated the teachers and also gifted them books as a token of love. After this, one day principal, Vice Principal and teachers were felicitated. In addition to this, the students arranged an interview of Prof, S.J. Aher to know his life journey. The students enjoyed an interview of Prof. Aher as he depicted his struggle for education and narrated the hurdles and obstacles in his life, and how he tackled them and became Professor in Law. The students got an inspiration from his real life story.

Then, some students sang songs and teachers expressed their views and thanked the students for organizing such a wonderful program. The program ended with refreshment and obviously wonderful photo session.

The students enthusiastically participated in the programme.
